COLLEGE UPDATES

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURAL, LIFE, AND PHYSICAL SCIENCES

- Students in CALPS can participate in hands-on research, working one-on-one with a faculty member during their undergraduate program.
- Our 2,000-acre on-campus working farm provides hands-on learning opportunities in agricultural systems including equestrian, livestock production, horticulture, row crops, agricultural mechanics, and sustainable agricultural systems. University Farms new equipment partnership with SNAP John Deere provides our students with industry leading technology and data management tools to prepare them for the high-tech agricultural industry. The opening of the Sustainable Farm provides locally-grown, nutrient-dense food for the university dining halls, urban gardening skills for students, and promotes food security to the broader southern Illinois community.
- The Plant Biology Greenhouse and Conservatory contains over 700 species of plants, most not native to Illinois. This collection represents a window into the worldwide diversity of plants.
- Students planning to transfer to a pre-health major are encouraged to begin job shadowing while they are at community college, as many health professional schools require a significant number of job-shadowing hours.
- The Agribusiness Economics program provides an accelerated pathway from a Bachelor’s Degree to a Master’s Degree in only two additional semesters.
- SIU’s hands-on accredited Forestry program includes an immersive 4-week field experience where students develop field skills in beautiful natural settings including the Great Smoky Mountains, Bryce Canyon, Zion, and Rocky Mountain National Parks. The popular program ranks second nationally for B.S. degrees awarded in forestry.
- The SIU Horticulture Research Center provides opportunities for horticulture undergraduate students to work with nationally recognized programs that conduct applied research in cannabis, fruit, and vegetable production. Students also have the chance to gain hands-on learning in producing food sustainably at another SIU Farm location - the Student Sustainable Farm.
- There are over 30 registered student organizations affiliated with the college that allow students to engage in areas of personal interest with other students with the same interests.
- The Shawnee National Forest, SIU Touch of Nature Environmental Center, Crab Orchard Wildlife Refuge, Cedar Lake, and Giant City State Park provide countless opportunities for hunting, hiking, trail riding, fishing, camping, and other nature-based recreation only minutes from campus.
- The School of Chemical and Biomolecular Sciences added a B.S. Degree in Biochemistry.
- The School of Chemical and Biomolecular Sciences will host the Research Experiences For Undergraduates (REU) has been funded by the National Science Foundation for another three year cycle.
- The School of Earth Systems and Sustainability received a $1.33 M National Science Foundation project that will fund scholarships for transfer students. The goal is to train more sustainability focused geoscientists.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND MEDIA

- The College of Arts & Media welcomed Dr. Hong Cheng as the first permanent Dean of the newly formed college.
- Professor Oluseng (’Segun) Ojewuyi will serve as the Interim Associate Dean for the College of Arts & Media.
- Dr. Rolando Gonzalez-Torres, AIA was named the Interim Director for the School of Architecture.
- H.D. Motyl was named the Interim Director for the School of Theater and Dance.
- The School of Theater and Dance productions will be Romeo & Juliet (Oct 13-16), Little Women (Dec 8-11), Mousetrap (Feb 16-19), Big Muddy Festival (Mar 23-26)
- Not reflected in the handbook, Cinema and Radio, Television & Digital Media have combined into Media Arts. The foundation courses allow students to study or make media every morning, Monday-Friday.
- Carol Westerman-Jones (Advisor) has left the College of Arts & Media and accepted a position as the Chief Academic Advisor for the College of Agriculture, Life, and Physical Science.
- CAM Advisors: Jean Miner, Chief Academic Advisor - Cinema (CIN), Cinema & Photography (CP), Journalism (JRNL), Radio, Television & Digital Media (RTD), and Undecided (UND); Kijoung Na – Architectural Studies (ARC), Interior Design (ID), and Fashion Studies (FDM/FASH); Karen Wolf - Art & Design (AD), Music (MUS), Musical Theater (MT), Theater & Dance (THEA)
- We have a converged newsroom for the Daily Egyptian and River Region Evening Edition.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS AND ANALYTICS

- Econometrics & Quantitative Economics major – Inclusion of more quantitative courses also makes the program a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) field. Students graduating with STEM degrees see increased demand from employers. For international students looking to stay in the U.S. after graduating, a STEM degree allows one to remain in the U.S. for three years before needing an H1B Visa, whereas a non-STEM graduate can stay in the U.S. for only one year before needing an H1B.
- Finance added a specialization in Financial Economics.
- Minors in Business Analytics and Public & Nonprofit Administration will be offered.
